Subject: Microsoft Office(TM) monopoly

What is being done related to the Microsoft monopoly for office-suite software? Surely, Microsoft must have 99.5+% market share for their Excel and Word office productivity applications?

It is said that the reason they included PocketWord and PocketExcel with the PocketPC operating system on their handheld devices is due to their interest in preserving the Desktop PC "Office" dominance, and preventing the encroachment of other comers in that segment.

Why is this not being investigated or discussed??

Why are you not speaking to Corel (WordPerfect Suite) or IBM (Lotus SmartSuite) about MS' anticompetitive actions related to Office productivity software??
